To the Alumni

This, the second issue of the new Archon, comes to you as a replacement for the old alumni Bulletin.

On page 8 you'll find a message from your new Headmaster; beginning on page 14 you'll find news of your classmates; on other pages we hope you'll find other items of interest.

North Shore Alumni Meeting

This year the annual gathering of North Shore Alumni, commonly held at Marblehead, will be held on campus. The date is Saturday, May 21. North Shore alumni should reserve it herewith; and "North Shore" is not to be taken too literally. Although specific invitations will be sent to the North Shore group only, anyone who can make his way to South Byfield on that date qualifies, if he will just let us know that he plans to attend.

As was the case with many alumni dinners this winter, alumni are strongly urged to bring their wives. Following the baseball game with Milton Academy there will be a social hour at the Old Newbury Golf Club across the Turnpike at 5:30. Dinner will be served in the school dining room at 7:00.

Glee Clubs

Since Easter Sunday fell this year on the date usually reserved for the annual New England Preparatory School Music Festival at Symphony Hall, and since the hall could not be secured for any other Sunday, Governor Dummer's glee club and those of the other participating schools, missed that great musical experience.

But the girls of Dana Hall, Walnut Hill, and Abbot Academy came to South Byfield for joint concerts with the Governor Dummer Club during the winter and spring and were entertained at dinner before the concerts and at dances afterward. The Meistersingers produced their usual magic blend of entertainment and music, and parents and friends turned out in gratifying numbers to hear the concerts.

The Club will, as usual, make its final appearance at the Commencement Concert on June 3; but this year there will be an additional concert for the alumni when the North Shore group meets at the Academy on May 21.

The Junior Glee Club also enjoyed joint concerts with girls' schools. They went to Walnut Hill on January 23 for a largely social evening and to Shore Country Day School for a full concert on February 27. Their first home concert brought the Beaver Country Day School here on January 16, and Dana Hall will visit South Byfield on May 20 for another.

Winter Dance

No, that is not a misprint; there actually was a winter dance at Governor Dummer this year. It took place on January 30 and was enjoyed by eighty-six couples.

Unlike the spring or Milestone dance, the winter dance was strictly a one-day affair. The girls arrived in the late afternoon, and were entertained at dinner before the dance. Ken Reeves' orchestra provided music from eight until twelve. Forty-two of the guests arrived in a group from Dana Hall; the others were "home town" dates.

Alumni Dinners

This year has been notable for the size and number of alumni dinners. Mr. and Mrs. Wilkie want to know as many alumni and friends of the school as possible and the dinners have been planned with that in mind. All reports indicate that they have been wholly successful in establishing a bond of mutual affection and respect between the alumni and the Wilkies wherever they have met.

Except for the Boston Dinner, which was the first one held and at which Mrs. Wilkie was the only lady present, alumni wives, parents and other friends were cordially invited and attended in heartening numbers. To several dinners alumni from nearby colleges came as guests of the school, and faculty delegations larger than in the past were the rule.

Boston

Fittingly enough, the programs were planned as a welcome to the Wilkies. In Boston, Burton Machinist, '36, as toastmaster, Arthur S. Ross, Jr., '37, and Dr. Claude M. Fuess, long a trustee, performed these honors. Art Ross, in fact, made Mrs. Wilkie particularly welcome by presenting her with a bracelet made of the hair of the tail of an elephant which he had shot during a recent safari to Africa. This was topped only by A. Timothy Pouch, '43, toastmaster at the New York Dinner, who gave Mrs. Wilkie a whole elephant (toy size).

In Portland, the greetings to the Wilkies were given by toastmaster John W. Deering, Jr., '47, C. Nelson Corey, '35, now head coach of football at Bowdoin, and Richard M. Tyler, '18, father of Richard M. Tyler, Jr., '48. Mr. Tyler's reminiscences of the school at the mid-point of Dr. Ingham's administration were particularly interesting.

In Buffalo the welcome was extended by Mr. Radcliffe Dann, father of E. Webster Dann, '48. Mr. Dann and Mr. Hoover C. Sutton, father of Peter R. Sutton, '47, and Hoover C. Sutton, Jr., '48, were co-hosts at this very pleasant affair. Both Pete Sutton and Web Dann were on hand in their capacity as faculty members.

New York

New Yorkers heard Tim Pouch introduce Theodore G. Bergmann, '37, and Mr. Enno Hobbing, father of Daniel B. Hobbing, '60. All present were especially interested by Ted Bergmann's talk about the advertising business. (Ted is now President of his own agency). Relating his remarks to the recent T.V. quiz scandals, Ted was persuasive about the value of responsible advertising and the disservice to all concerned of the irresponsible variety. Mr. Hobbing's remarks were equally well received. On the subject of the value of private schools, he stressed the service to the public which the private schools provide by the thorough training given their graduates.

Responsibility was one of the themes developed by Mr. Wilkie in his responding talks in which he explained his thoughts about the Academy, his hopes and plans for it, its needs, and the job he wants to do to justify its existence. He spoke of a greatly expanded religious program including a chapel and a chaplain who would be available as a full time faculty member to counsel with boys and perhaps to teach a course in the area of religion. He told of the need for an expanded program of scholarship aid in order to keep the student body strong and for more faculty housing, and a better salary scale to attract and keep a strong faculty. Stressing that a sense of service must be developed in the boys, he emphasized his desire to have at Governor Dummer a community in which learning is exciting for both teachers and students and which will provide a maximum educational experience.

Syracuse and Buffalo

At Syracuse, where Gerry J. Dietz, '35, our triple threat alumnus - parent - trustee, was toastmaster, and at Buffalo, Ben Stone gave a talk about the importance of ability to communicate. Clarity and precision in expression, both written and spoken, are fundamentals which the school strives to teach through the regular academic courses and the public speaking course, Ben said. He cited statistics and examples to show that it is achieving measurable success in this effort, and he emphasized that the intangible values of this training would be just as important in making students effective citizens in later life.

Buster Navins gave a treasurer's report which at several dinners he expanded into an account of the development of the Alumni organization. He made a particular point of such recent developments as the conversion of the Archon into an alumni magazine, the establishment of a class agent system for the Alumni Fund and the creation of an alumni room at the school.

Faculty Quartet

A feature of every dinner was the faculty quartet, Art Sager, Ben Stone, Pete Sutton and John Witherspoon. It was the consensus of opinion that four years of singing together had brought this group to a new peak of perfection. Pete Sutton's resignation from the faculty to accept a business position will be nowhere felt more keenly than in his absence from the quartet. A current prerequisite for a faculty applicant is a pure and true top tenor voice to match Pete's.

The real feature of each meeting was, of course, the alumni themselves. For many, like M. Herrick Randall, '42, and W. Jordan Means, '42, who have attended every Portland Dinner, the affairs were an annual event. For others, the dinner was their first Governor Dummer meeting since their Commencement. All were more than welcome and contributed to the success of the meetings by their presence.

Hannon from Okinawa

Special mention in this regard should go to the long distance champion, John F. (Clancy) Hannon, '53. On the morning of the New York Dinner, Clancy flew into the San Francisco airport from Okinawa. At the airport he happened to run into Robert M. Rex, '53. Bob told him about the dinner and together they flew over to New York, arriving at the Columbia University Club right on time with Clancy still resplendent in his U. S. Marine uniform.

At the five dinners already held, a total of 376 people have renewed old friendships and made new ones. There is one dinner yet to come, the North Shore Dinner which will be held on May 21, 1960, at the Academy. This again will be a family affair with wives, parents, and friends welcome. There will be school teams in action during the afternoon, a reception at the golf club, and dinner at the school. If you are anywhere near South Byfield on May 21, do come and join the party.

Easter Vespers

This was one of the years when Easter Sunday did not fall within the spring vacation. It was also the first year for a long time when there was no New England Preparatory School Music Festival. The combination provided an opportunity for a most unusual and enjoyable vesper service on April 17.

The service opened with two Easter hymns and a responsive reading. Then the Junior Glee Club sang two numbers, "Brother James's Air", and "Let Us Now Praise Famous Men." A piano solo by Walter Gallant followed; then the Senior Club sang "Miserere" and "God of Our Fathers." The Meistersingers contributed "O Bone Jesu" which they had prepared especially for the occasion; and the service concluded with "Old Hundred" by the student body and the glee clubs with a trumpet accompaniment by Stephen Blair and Barry MacNutt.

Glee Club Helps Raise Funds

The Academy glee clubs have been invited to sing at the First Church of Newbury on Sunday, May 15. The concert will be part of a campaign to raise funds for an addition to the church building.

The senior club, the junior club, and the Meistersingers will all participate in a program similar to the one at the Easter Sunday vespers concert at the Academy.

Huggins Track and Field

The biblical injunction that the first shall be last and the last shall be first certainly came true for the track squad at Governor Dummer this spring. After long years of impatiently waiting each spring for various unclaimed areas of Morse Field to dry out, this year's track stars could hardly believe it when they were the first ones to enjoy outdoor practice.

The first ten days of the spring term were cold and wet. The baseball fields, the lacrosse fields, even the lawns were quagmires. Then one day the rain stopped. The next day most of Morse Field and all of Whipple Field were still under water; at noon the same old notices went the rounds in the dining room "Varsity baseball in Alumni Gym", "J.V. baseball in Lang Gym", "Varsity lacrosse on the parking lot", etc. But at three o'clock there were the tracksters happily disporting themselves on the well-dried Huggins oval.

The dedication of the new track will be an extra feature of the 1960 Commencement exercises. On Friday, June 3, immediately after the luncheon and before the ballgame, the entire school will gather in the parking lot of the Alumni Gymnasium near the boulder which bears the bronze memorial tablet.

Mr. Edward W. Eames, Headmaster Emeritus, will speak briefly, and Mr. Marshall B. Dalton, President of the Board, will accept the track for the Trustees.

Back to College

Mr. Benjamin Stone has been awarded a National Science Foundation grant for the coming summer and will return to Hamilton College, his alma mater, for six weeks of intensive work in mathematics during July and August. He will be one of some twenty thousand high school and preparatory school science and mathematics teachers sent back to school at some 350 colleges and universities by the Foundation in recognition of the important part played by secondary schools in developing scientific manpower.

Incidentally, Mr. Stone professes to be "frightened to death" at the prospect of returning to the classroom.

Mr. Bryan L. Carpenter

Within a week after the death of Mr. Barriskill, Mr. Wilkie had the good fortune to locate a very capable replacement for the remaining weeks of the school year.

Mr. Bryan Carpenter is a graduate of Union College '22 and has a master's degree from Harvard. He was until 1957 chairman of the Modern Language department at the Charlestown High School. Since that time he has spent most of his time editing Spanish textbooks for the firm of Laidlaw Brothers of Illinois.

Mr. Carpenter is married and has two children. He is living at Sandown, New Hampshire, and will commute to South Byfield to take over Mr. Barriskill's classes.

New Trustee

At the January meeting of the Board of Trustees, Elliott M. Gordon, President of Towle Manufacturing Company of Newburyport, was elected trustee of Governor Dummer. His tute of Technology. He is a member of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers and of the honorary engineering society, Tau Beta Pi. He is presently a Director of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Co.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon reside in Hampton, N. H., and have three other children in addition to Jim — John and David at Cornell, Molly at the University of Rochester.

THE REVEREND WILLIAM B. SPOFFORD, JR.

Religious Education

Next September, for the first time in modern history, Governor Dummer will have its own school minister. For this very significant new post, Mr. Wilkie has been fortunate to secure the Reverend William B. Spofford, Jr., already well known to many of the faculty and to some of the boys from the year he served as interim Rector of the Ipswich Church regularly attended by the Episcopal members of the school. Mr. Spofford will continue to act as chaplain of the Massachusetts General Hospital in Boston, but will preside at a non-denominational service at the Academy each Sunday and will spend at least one afternoon and evening each week with us.

Mr. Spofford's appointment marks the achievement of an ambition long cherished by many members of son, James, is currently in his second year at the Academy.

Mr. Gordon, formerly Vice President and General Manager of the Gorham Manufacturing Co., Providence, R. I., came to Towle in July 1957. A graduate of Purdue University, he later received an honorary E.D. there, and in 1938 he became a Sloan Fellow at Massachusetts Insti-

the school; i.e., the institution of a regular church service at the school and an end of the practice of sending the boys off campus every Sunday morning for religious services. For the present the service will be held in the Cobb Room, where a temporary altar will be set up at the east end of the room. Services will be held at the Academy on the last Sunday of April and five Sundays in May this year, partially to help Mr. Spofford and Mr. Wilkie develop a workable schedule and arrangement for the services which will take place every Sunday beginning in September.

Mr. and Mrs. Spofford and their five sons are living in Byfield where they bought a home two years ago. Mr. Spofford is a graduate of the Lenox School and of Antioch College in 1942 and the Episcopal Theological School of Cambridge in 1951. He has also studied at the University of Michigan and at Yale and has taught at the Episcopal Theological School, at Boston University School of Theology, and at Park College, Missouri. For the past three years he has been Supervisory Chaplain of

As many alumni have already learned, the Academy was stunned and saddened on April 14, 1960, by the sudden death of Mr. James M. Barriskill of a heart attack.

No one else at the Academy knew Mr. Barriskill as well or as long as did Tom Mercer; and no one was closer to him. It was to Mr. Mercer, therefore, that the Editor turned for the appreciation of Mr. Barriskill which appears in the adjacent columns.

the Massachusetts General Hospital and the Massachusetts Eye and Ear Infirmary.

Mr. and Mrs. Spofford have many friends on the campus and in the community.

Boynton House and Faculty Housing

Alumni will be interested to learn that Mr. and Mrs. Murphy will move from the Cottage to Boynton House when it is completed next July. Mr. Miller and his bride will occupy the Murphys' apartment in the Cottage; and Mr. and Mrs. Sperry, everyone is glad to hear, will have the apartment on the second floor of Peirce Wing last occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Withington, and since used as a dormitory.

Mr. and Mrs. Friend have already moved into the second floor apartment in Commons vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Sutton when Pete left us to become a Madison Avenue executive.

James Melius Barriskill

(1905 - 1960)

Born in Binghamton, New York, January 30, 1905, James Barriskill was the only child of Mr. and Mrs. James M. Barriskill, Sr. In 1929 he was graduated from Hobart College, Geneva, New York, with an A.B. degree. From that time until his sudden death on April 14, 1960, he had devoted his entire life to teaching.

His first appointment was at the Irving School of Tarrytown, New York, where from 1929 until the closing of the school in 1944 he taught Latin, English, and history. In the fall of 1944 he went to Cooperstown Academy, Cooperstown, New York, where he taught Latin, French, and Spanish. When Cooperstown Academy closed its doors in 1949, Mr. Barriskill came to Governor Dummer Academy, here to teach Latin, French, and Spanish until the day of his death. In addition to these boarding school positions that he filled so capably for nearly thirty-one years, he was from 1944 through 1956 one of the staff of tutors at the Hyde Bay Summer School near Cooperstown, New York.

While at the Irving School, Mr. Barriskill developed an enthusiasm for the contemporary theatre that ultimately led to one of his most cherished avocations, a study of the early American theatre, especially as it existed in Cooperstown and in Newburyport. He had prepared for publication a bibliography of the former; some articles of his concerning the latter were published by the Essex Institute of Salem.

Soon after coming to Governor Dummer, Mr. Barriskill became deeply interested in the colonial history of this area. He was for a time a director of the Historical Society of Old Newbury, served also as its librarian, and spent the summers of 1957-58-59 happily cataloguing material for the Society. His burgeoning interest in New England antiquities led quite naturally to his being appointed Archivist of the Academy. And no better monument to his skillful industry, his perseverance, and his patient research could there be than the present extensive and meticulously catalogued Archives of the Academy, developed largely by his work.

Another facet of his antiquarian interest appeared in his association with St. Paul's Church of Newburyport, where he was a regular communicant, clerk both of the Vestry and of the parish. At the time of his death he was delving into the early history of the parish, preparatory to the celebration of its forthcoming 250th anniversary. It was hoped by all that he would do not only much of the research for this occasion but also much of the writing that such a commemorative event entails.

Instead, at St. Paul's, on Saturday morning, April 16, funeral services were held for him. The church was filled with members of the three groups with whom Mr. Barriskill had so closely identified himself during his eleven years in Newbury: the school attended en masse, his co-workers from the Historical Society were there, and among the pallbearers were fellow members from the Vestry of St. Paul's. On Monday, April 18, he was buried in Albany, New York, beside the only other two members of his immediate family, his father and his mother.

To The Alumni:

Almost a year has passed since the Wilkies moved onto the Governor Dummer Academy campus last July to take up the threads of a new life. At that time various people suggested a long list of headaches which would undoubtedly lead me to a premature state of old age. Although in recent weeks remarks have been made about my graying temples and wrinkled brow, I actually find myself on this May day singularly healthy and only a little bowed with care. Now that the first-year "honeymoon" is nearly over, I have received fair warning of the pitfalls which await the unsuspecting sophomore. Despite all these dire prophecies, however, I find myself ready to risk the next step, whatever the future may bring.

As I look back over this first ten-month period, some of my thoughts seem worth sharing with you. My first association here was with my colleagues of the faculty, who have provided the support and assistance which have made the adjustment to new surroundings very pleasant indeed. As you all well know, Mr. Eames brought together an unusually able and active group of men who, with him, have brought the school to its present strong position. At the Parents' Day dinner, Mr. Dunning remarked that the old dogs were ready to learn new tricks. I would change that statement slightly to indicate that they not only are ready to learn new tricks, but often they think of the tricks that need to be learned before I do. In addition, to my way of thinking, this faculty has an unusual loyalty to the school. There is a willingness to accept duties large and small and, in time of need, to put the interests of the Academy ahead of their own. This characteristic is not only vital to the operation of the school but is one of the finest qualities which they could possibly teach to our students.

The student body has also provided the new administration with a minimum of consternation. The junior and senior classes, particularly, have been asked to accept an increasing amount of responsibility for their own academic endeavors and, with the exception of a short winter-term slump, they have come through with flying colors. At the risk of bringing the roof down around my ears during the final weeks of the year, I would also note that our disciplinary problems have been few. At the beginning of the year I used the term "young men" in addressing the student body and suggested that I would continue using that term until such a time as I was forced by their actions to change it. I am delighted to say that only on rare occasions have a very few boys shaken my belief in the fact that the student body is made up of young men capable of assuming large responsibilities and making right decisions.

Ever since January 1959, when I attended a meeting of the Alumni Executive Committee in Boston, I have been tremendously impressed by the enthusiasm and vigor of a small group of alumni who have been working for the school. Many of these men have devoted untold hours to the planning of dinners and to the Alumni Fund. Others have contributed a great deal to the Academy by participating in events such as the alumni basketball game, by attending alumni dinners, and by supporting the Alumni Fund. This fund will be devoted directly to the faculty-salary increase for next year and to date the returns have been encouraging, though we still have a long way to go. Our goal is 500 contributors or about 25% of the alumni body. To reach this goal we must have many new contributors.

As we all turn our eyes toward the future, I suspect we would agree that it is not sufficient for Governor Dummer to enter its third century as merely a "good school." In this day and age, "good" is not good enough and we must be in a position to provide outstanding academic training, as well as to develop some moral fiber in the young men whom we send forth to college and career. The Board of Trustees is beginning discussions about our plans for the Bicentennial in 1963. There is enough to be done in setting up a proper celebration for this 200th birthday of America's oldest boys' boarding school to challenge us all. If that celebration is to find the school ready to assume the role it should in the coming century of its history, we must study carefully our needs for the job ahead. All these problems the trustees and I are currently attacking, and no headmaster could hope to find a more vigorous and thoughtful group with whom to plot the future course of a school. Though my time here has been very short indeed, I am tremendously enthusiastic about the future of this school. If your enthusiasm and interest match mine and that of the faculty and trustees, I am convinced that the sky is the limit for Governor Dummer Academy.

In closing, let me express my thanks to you all for the welcome you have given Mrs. Wilkie and me during the course of this first year. We begin to feel we know you, and we certainly hope you are beginning to know us. It is our wish that your interest in the school will lead you back to the campus frequently. We want you to know that all of us here are always most happy to see you.

REMEMBER WHEN?

Runners Up in Basketball

The Governors' basketball team placed second in the Private School League this year after winning 6 league games and losing only one.

One of its severest tests occurred on December 12 when alumni of many seasons combined to field an all-star team that over-awed, sometimes outplayed, but alas could not outstay Mr. Williams' current hoopsters.

Bobby Deering '49 was largely instrumental in enticing back for the games such other stars as his brother Jack '47, Rod Jennings '49, Johnny Canepa '49, Bobby Rex '53, Ed Cartwright '47, Dick Walsh '46, Jimmy Waugh '44, Fritz Freeman '48, John F. Kimball '46, Billy Judson '49, Buddy Hadley '46, and Vin Sgarzi '56.

Before the opening whistle Ringmaster Sager took position at mid-court, recited the names and honors of the returning stars, and lined them up under the north basket. During the first half several of them were observed under the south basket also; during the second half few of them made it.

Wrestling Champs

Prime accomplishment in Winter Term Athletics was the wrestling team's second successive undefeated season. The Governors' grapplers have now survived twenty dual meets since they were last humbled, by Roxbury Latin February 1, 1958.

With victories over Browne and Nichols and Noble and Greenough behind them, the Governors took Andover on January 30, and their supporters were aware that Mr. Evans had produced another strong team. But with Belmont Hill, St. Mark's, Roxbury Latin, Milton, and Tabor facing them on successive Saturdays, it didn't seem probable that they could avoid an upset. But they did just that and with considerable ease.

Several Governors were entered in the interscholastics meet on March 5, but only Fred Lyman went the distance to become 157-lb. champion.

Hockey Enthusiasts Foiled

When athletic choices for the winter term were tabulated, it was found that twenty-five more boys had signed for hockey than in the preceding year.

For the first month of the season favorable weather gave the Governors good ice, and both the varsity and J.V. squads made good progress. Then came the January thaw which lasted all of February and most of March.

In spite of that setback, a number of underclass players were developed who will be available for future teams.

Track Stars Gather

The Governors christened their new Huggins Track on April 30 by bowing to Moses Brown in the first interscholastic dual meet they had lost in two years, even though Mr. Sperry's charges were perhaps inspired to better-than-usual effort by the presence of some of New England's outstanding track personalities.

Assisting Mr. Sperry was Governor Dummer's own Arthur

Sager, Olympic javelin star. Coaching Moses Brown was Warren Howe, chief organizer of the New England Private School Track Association. Officiating was Oscar Hedlund, Olympic miler and first winner of the Hunter Mile.

The Governors really shone only in the high jump, where Dan Hobbing, John Tarbell, and Tony Greene took all three places with leaps of 5' 9", 5' 8", and 5' 6" respectively.

Baseball

The Governors' baseball schedule opened as usual with a rained-out contest against Haverhill. A narrow 1-0 victory over Roxbury Latin at home was sandwiched between out-of-town losses to Groton, 5-3, and Noble and Greenough, 4-3.

Both at Groton and at Noble and Greenough determined last inning rallies showed the Governors' spirit, even though they failed to bring victory.

Last summer the Executive Committee decided to follow the example of so many other schools and colleges by adopting the class agent system of maintaining contact with the alumni. In this system one member of each class is appointed class agent. He, in turn, appoints a group of his classmates to act as class representatives. Each representative is responsible for phoning, writing, or calling on a small group of classmates in his area; each class agent is responsible for seeing that his class representatives keep feeding material to the alumni office at the Academy.

Because the decision to adopt the class agent system was reached late in the summer, it was necessary to do a quick job of selecting people who might be willing to serve in these two capacities.

All agents were contacted and accepted the responsibility, but there was not time to write all of the graduates who would be asked to serve as representatives. Therefore, in order to help the agents, Art Sager went over the list and selected people who he thought might be willing to serve. During the coming year there will be more opportunity to prepare the program, and all representatives, as well as agents, will receive an invitation asking for their support.

Mr. Sager and the Executive Committee hope very much that all alumni will be willing to help in this important project. Too often the agent system is thought of only in terms of raising money. As important as this function is, there are other vital reasons for adopting the system. Already much new information about graduates of the school has been received; alumni address cards have been brought up to date; and perhaps most important, a definite organization has started to function in preparation for our two-hundredth celebration in 1963.

Mr. Sager reports that to date, at least, the results of this year's fund drive have not been as successful as had been hoped. However, there is reason to feel that we are on the road to real progress. We anticipate having the largest number of contributors of any year to our alumni fund, and already the alumni have raised as much money as in any other year, except for a $5,000 grant of land which enabled us to reach the $15,000 goal last year.

It is important for all of the alumni to understand that letters sent by agents and representatives are the result of a decision of the Alumni Executive Committee and not of the school. But the school is grateful to all of those who have contributed, and especially appreciative of those who have been willing to give their time as agents and representatives.
